Student Success Coordinator, Valerie Newton, provided a comprehensive review of Report No. 58. Discussion ensued about further strategies that can be used to increase student accessibility to courses, including the investigation of a five-period school day which is in process in the Niagara District School Board.

Three areas of focus were identified to assist in expanding student accessibility to courses: engaging high school principals in coordinating multi-year calendars for the five high schools, capitalizing on the role of our student trustees by enhancing communication processes among high schools, and enhancing the role of guidance counsellors.
